

"For over 50 years I have always kept Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the home. My father often told me that it saved my life when I was very young."

In thousands of homes Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a household word. It has been used first by the grand-children, then by the parents, and now by the children. For colds and coughs, croup, bronchitis, la grippe, inflammation in the throat or in the bronchial tubes.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the standard remedy the world over. It contains no narcotic or poison. Accept no substitute. Put up in large and small bottles.

NEVER-LEAK ROOFING
A Real Protection for any Roofing.

CONGO ROOFING is a REAL PROTECTION to any building. Some roofings are nothing but paper that will take a layer of paint or coating.

In that case, the paint is your real roof, and when it wears off, the roof is ruined. Many so-called "roofings" will dissolve in water if not protected by the paint or coating.

It's different with Congo.

FRANKIE SMITH RECOVERING FORM

The principals in the boxing bout scheduled to take place at the Orpheum on the 30th inst. are both hard at work getting into shape for the go.

Frankie Smith was out at the post yesterday afternoon and boxed four rounds with both McCullough and Miller. He appears to be rounding into shape nicely.

Charlie Reilly is holding forth at the Orpheum. He goes about his work with a willingness which is a pleasure to watch and is boxing with rare vim. Soldier Miller is determined to show that he did not do himself justice in his bout with Sullivan. Silva is equally determined to demonstrate that he is a better man than he has been given credit for being, and this set of circumstances should result in a rattling go.

Boquet and Eddie are taking their preliminary very seriously and are working like champions. There is often more action in a four-round preliminary than in the main event, and the curtain-raiser on the 30th looks like being a corker.

George Peterson is conditioning himself for his fifteen-round argument with Dick Sullivan which takes place two weeks from next Saturday. He fully realizes that he has a man's size job on his hands and is setting out in the right way to tackle it.

No referee has been selected as yet for the Smith-Reilly go but it is probable that the third man to be in the ring will be Dick Sullivan, than whom a more capable man to adjudicate a contest it would be hard to find.

LOCAL MARATHON RACE SITUATION

The Marathon situation waits upon the action of St. Clair Biddgood who started the ball rolling by offering a cup for a go-as-you-please from Honolulu to Haleiwa but who has not as yet outlined the conditions under which he wants the race to take place. There is much interest in the race around town and there will probably be a score or thirty-entries.

The High School will be represented, also the Diamond Head Athletic Club. Dai Fahey expects to be there at the finish and both Sullivan and Ayres intend to take a shot at the game.

There is a proposition on foot to have the race on Feb. 12, the date of the Lincoln Centennial, and to wind up the day's fun with a dance at the Haleiwa Hotel. An effort is being made to secure a cheap round-trip ticket for the benefit of those who want to go to Waiwala to witness the finish of the race.

ALL READY FOR CHINESE MEET

The first event of the Chinese field meet tomorrow will take place at 1 p. m. and the program will be run through with as little delay as possible. The entries are numerous and of good class and some good performances are likely to be recorded.

En Sue will take part in the sprints and it will be interesting to watch how the crack runner performs and the watch will show if he has retained his form or gone back.

Interest in field and track athletics is steadily developing among the Chinese and that the tendency is in the right direction; that of developing stamina as well as speed, that inclusion of a two-miles run and a three-miles walk in the program, shows.

There will be quite a crowd go out to see the mile open walk in which Sullivan, Cheatham and Ayres will fight out their last Sunday's battle again. All three men are in fine shape and a memorable race should result and good time be made, though it must be borne in mind that the Boys' Field track is fully a minute slow over the distance.

Shortly after the vessel passed through the heads Alexander, thinking it would be impossible to land him, came up from below for a breath of air. In doing so he made one miscalculation through forgetting that Captain James Miller, the pilot, had not left the steamer. Alexander was ordered by Captain Thomas Dowdell of the Alameda, into the pilot boat Lady Mine and taken with Pilot Miller back to Meigs' wharf. Being without friends or money, Teddy Pennington, a seaman on the Lady Mine, gave the unfortunate man $2.50 to tide him over until today.

Sensational Attack On The President

DRAMATIC SPEECH BY SENATOR FORAKER, REplete WITH PERSONAL ALLUSIONS—ACCUSES THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF ILLEGAL USE OF FUNDS AND DISHONORABLE METHODS IN THE BROWNSVILLE MATTER.

WASHINGTON, January 12.—The strident to be permanent appropriations.

Senate adopted a resolution today presented by Senator Foraker, calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for an itemized statement of the expenditure of the $3,000,000 appropriated by the act of March 3, 1899, to be expended at the discretion of the President as an emergency fund. This is the fund out of which detectives were paid for investigating the Brownsville affair.

WASHINGTON, January 12.—A renewal of the discussion of the Brownsville affair in the Senate today by Senator Foraker called out a large gathering that filled the galleries to overflowing.

The Senator had the strictest attention of his colleagues on the floor, nearly all of whom were present, together with a considerable number of members of the House, who occupied places in the rear of the chamber. Among the visitors in the gallery there was a large number of negro men and women—men who have been present on every occasion when Foraker has defended the negroes of the Twenty-fifth Regiment against the charge of having "shot up the town" of Brownsville on the night of August 13th and 14th, 1906.

Senator Foraker had prepared his speech very carefully, but his reading of the manuscript had all of the interest of an extemporaneous address. The row of seats reserved for the President was empty throughout the time Senator Foraker was speaking.

REFERS TO HIS LETTER.
When Foraker commented on a statement of the detectives respecting a letter he had written to one of the discharged soldiers he laid down his manuscript and with considerable vehemence declared:

"I have doubtless written some letters needing explanation. I have doubtless written some letters that I would not have written if I had all the information I got at some other time. But I have never written any letters since I left my mother's knee of which I am ashamed or need any lying to explain."

As he proceeded his voice grew more and more intense.

"If I have shown any undue zeal in commending upon these proceedings," he said, glancing from his manuscript, "it is not through anger, but through that indignant resentment that every self-respecting man feels who is spied upon by the Government he is attempting to serve. No language can completely describe such a shameful performance. I don't exempt any one from that remark who is called, from the highest to the lowest.

ALLUDES TO THE PRESIDENT.
Foraker read letters from some of the negro soldiers denying the statements of the detectives.

"There will be a time," he said, as he threw his manuscripts down on his desk and looked over the Senate chamber, "when men will not deal lightly with such charges and insinuations. There will be a time when they will be where they can be called to account."

Commenting upon the report of Herbert J. Browne, who had charge of the investigation by detectives, Mr. Foraker declared that he had been shocked and horrified when he read his statements.

"I wish," he said, his voice resounding throughout the chamber, "somebody else who prates about the dishonesty of other people," evidently meaning the President, "could be shocked and horrified."

This charge of illegally diverting $15,000 from the war fund of $3,000,000 appropriated by the deficiency act of March 3, 1899, was adopted by Foraker in concluding his remarks, which consisted of a very careful consideration of certain legal phases of the Brownsville affair and the reading of a number of affidavits by soldiers whose testimony and "confessions" Browne alleged he had secured to unravel the mystery of the identity of the men who did the shooting, and these affidavits denied with great particularity nearly every statement of importance by the detectives.

THAT BIG EMERGENCY FUND.
Speaking of the $3,000,000 war fund of 1899 appropriated as an emergency to meet unforeseen contingencies constantly arising to be expended at the discretion of the President, Foraker said: "It will probably be surprising information that the appropriation made ten years ago at the close of the Spanish-American War, to enable the President to meet emergency Army contingencies, such as were then arising in connection with our military establishment, should have been con-

Here Is Some Advice—

Honolulu more than any other city in the World, is a place where the Evening Paper gets the news first. The clock here is over two hours behind the clock at San Francisco, four hours behind Chicago, five hours behind New York and ten to eleven hours behind the clocks in the Europe an capitals.

This means that when The Star is going to press THE DAY IS CLOSED in Washington, Chicago, New York and Europe and almost over in San Francisco. The news of the day is here for The Star.

Under modern conditions it takes practically no time to prepare and transmit news and THE STAR gets every evening the cable dispatches giving

The News Of All the World

For the Day Just Ended—

Here are some of the features that go to make the evening paper the predominating factor in an advertising campaign:

It is delivered at the home each night when the whole family has plenty of time to read it.

It is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it stays there. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The evening paper is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all the advertisements receive their share of attention.

It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

The evening paper presents the news the day it happens. The morning paper the day after.

The evening paper presents the news first. The morning paper merely elaborates it.

The evening paper prints daylight news. The morning paper takes what is left.
